

RTC Seminar Series Fall 2005

Romberg Tiburon Center • Mondays at Noon

3152 Paradise Drive • Tiburon, CA 94920 • rtcinfo@sfsu.edu • (415) 338-6063

- Sept. 19 Monitoring chemical pollutants in the San Francisco Bay
Daniel Oros
San Francisco Estuary Institute
Hosted by Tomoko Komada
- Oct. 3 One if by land, two if by sea: the "missing" source of atmospheric methyl halides.
Rob Rhew
University of California, Berkeley
Hosted by Tomoko Komada
- Oct. 17 Environmental stress response of estuarine animals: a tool for monitoring ecosystem health and predicting consequences of environmental change.
Dietmar Kultz
University of California, Davis
Hosted by Jonathon Stillman
- Oct. 31 What mating has to do with marine bioinvasions?
Keun-Hyung Choi
Romberg Tiburon Center
- Nov. 14 Water, clams, anchovies, and copepods: piecing together recent changes in the foodweb of the northern San Francisco Estuary.
Wim Kimmerer
Romberg Tiburon Center
Hosted by Dale Robinson
- Nov. 28 Tomales Bay today: biodiversity, conservation, and research opportunities.
Ben Becker
Pt. Reyes National Seashore
Hosted by RTC Graduate Students (pizza lunch with students after the seminar)

Mondays • Noon – 1 pm • RTC Bay Conference Center

3152 Paradise Drive • Tiburon, CA 94920

Directions: www.rtc.sfsu.edu/bcc/bcc_directions.htm

rtcinfo@sfsu.edu • (415) 338-6063